

Khrushchev in France Talking Disarmament

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

PARIS (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in Paris today for a 11-day state visit and indicated that disarmament may be uppermost in his mind when he talks with French President Charles de Gaulle.

In a speech after landing at Orly Airport, Khrushchev touched on main problems facing East and West but said "We must in particular care for the problem of disarmament."

De Gaulle, whose government is pushing ahead with a program of nuclear weapon development to increase its status in world councils, gave no indication of his reaction to Khrushchev's words. Always austere, he stood quietly by an interpreter translated from the Russian.

Khrushchev also made what appeared to be an oblique reference to Berlin, speaking of the dangerous leftovers of World War II, a description he has often applied to the still-occupied German metropolis.

"These shells and these bombs are corroded by rust," he said, "and one runs a great risk in unearthing them. But to leave them intact is to expose yourself with caution and mastery. We must do the same in clearing from our old and beautiful earth the remains of these somber years of war. It is a difficult and delicate task."

Orly Airport was a blaze of color and pageantry as the French put on a full-dress greeting for Khrushchev's first visit to France, the first by a Russian government chief since Czar Nicholas II came with Czarina Alexandra on Oct. 6, 1896.

Heavy security precautions prevailed at the airport. Persons permitted to enter the arrival enclosure underwent four separate screenings. Security police were everywhere.

Khrushchev smiled and waved his soft gray hat as he alighted from his plane, followed by his wife, Nina. He seemed vigorous as he read his speech in the salon of honor, but a slight hoarseness seemed to be a legacy of the influenza attack which postponed his arrival for a week.

The Soviet Premier talked and smiled broadly as he and De Gaulle climbed into an open car for the 5-mile drive into Paris. De Gaulle, habitually aloof, smiled faintly. An interpreter sat on the front seat.

Mrs. Khrushchev, loaded down with flowers and smiling happily, rode in a second car with Mrs. de Gaulle. An escort of motorcycle guards roared ahead of the caravan. A slight breeze fluttered the French and Soviet flags along the route.

The spectators at first were only thinly spaced. But as the motorcade rode through the Paris suburbs the welcome burgeoned. Crowds were five-deep, with many waving tiny Soviet flags. Khrushchev waved back and showed a Continued on Page Two

Larger License Plates Considered

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Should Arkansas license plates be enlarged for easier reading by traffic officers?

State Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney doesn't think so. Commenting on a study to increase license plates throughout the nation by 6 to 14 inches, Cheney said he thinks Arkansas plates are long enough. The Arkansas size is 6 by 12 inches.

University of Illinois engineers are making the study and will report their findings to a highway research board.

Cheney said some states might benefit from a longer plate, but Arkansas tags just don't have enough letters and figures to make a change necessary. Besides, it would cost an estimated $10,000 a year.

It would be nice if someone would come up with a plan to protect plates from dirt and damage, Cheney mused.

U.S. Fails to Put Satellite Into Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States apparently failed today in an attempt to hurl a radiation study satellite into orbit about the earth.

Officials reported the third stage of the four-stage launching vehicle apparently did not ignite.

Half an hour after the 8:35 a.m. EST launching, Dr. Werhner Von Braun told newsmen:

"It doesn't look good."

Von Braun, who headed the Army's rocket developments, recently has been shifted to the civilian National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Von Braun said a quick look at data radioed from the rocket showed the first and second stages performed perfectly.

"But we have no indication of third stage ignition nor do we have an indication of the rocket continuing on after the point at which the third stage was scheduled to fire," the scientist said.

Von Braun said it probably will be two or three hours before failure can be determined definitely.

The big Juno II rocket blazed into the sky at 8:35 a. m. EST on a journey aimed to help prepare the way for space flight.

Steak Sunday for Class of Presbyterians

With a double-feature program, the Hope Presbyterian men hope to make a substantial gain in their contest with the men's Bible class in Prescott this Sunday.

Sirloin strip steaks will be served at a breakfast between 8 and 9:30 to be followed by a Jones Sunday program which will feature Haskell Jones as teacher. The steaks are being furnished by Lester Hobbs of Little Rock, formerly of Hope.

Members are urged to bring guests, especially guests bearing the name of Jones. Special music will include two vocal selections by Mrs. Haskell Jones. G. B. Hughes is in charge of breakfast.

For the second Sunday in succession, the Prescott men outnumbered the locals with 88 men in attendance. Seventy-six men attended the Hope class last Sunday.

Nine Youths Held on Charge of Slaying Man Who Tried to Serve as a Peacemaker

ARLINGTON, Mass. (AP) — Nine teen-agers were held without bail on murder charges today accused of killing a would-be peacemaker seeking to prevent a gang fight. The crime numbered a whole community.

The death of Franklin K. Theall, 26, a tree surgeon, at the hands of a gang of young toughs who resented his efforts to stop their trouble-making spurred a community effort to cope with juvenile violence.

Theall, an Army veteran, was dragged away from a cup of coffee Monday night, beaten and stabbed in the street and left dying in a gutter.

Dist. Atty. John J. Droney, chief law officer in Middlesex, the state's most populous county, invited police chiefs of Arlington, Watertown and eight other major Boston suburbs to meet with him to organize a crackdown on young hoodlums.

House Is Ready to Pass Mild Rights Measure

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — A demonstrated majority of House votes was poised today to pass a civil rights bill centering on court-appointed referees to help Negroes exercise their voting rights.

The House wrote that provision Tuesday into a relatively mild civil rights bill by the apparently irreversible margin of 199-104. However, opponents still have the right to demand a roll call vote, which theoretically could change the result.

Passage of the amended bill itself was expected today. The real test, most members agreed, was Tuesday's vote on the referee plan. But several other sections still have to be considered.

Passage would send the bill to the weary Senate, which began debating civil rights Feb. 15. Even after a series of around the clock sessions, the Senate has not yet agreed on a bill.

The Senate was expected to take at least another week, with indications it still may pass its own bill instead of accepting that passed by the House. Such action could delay for weeks or months final passage of a civil rights bill.

If the two houses pass separate versions, action by a conference committee would be needed to compromise the differences. That would open the measure to renewed delaying action by Southern opponents.

The Senate has been marking time while the House acted. If it were to accept the House bill, the measure could be sent directly to President Eisenhower.

Lions Told About Home on the Farm

Gene Bruich was in charge of the program yesterday at Hope Lions Club and presented Wade Benefield, Associate County Agent who spoke on Farm and Home Improvements. This program developed by taking approximately 12 farm and home development families for study purposes. This is primarily a management program aimed at obtaining a maximum goal at a minimum expenditure.

For instance: (1) They have found a very low cost, cotton insecticide which will control insects as well as the high priced ones. (2) 46 additional crop sprayers were purchased for a total cost of $13,800. Here is how the farmer benefited — Saving on insecticide, $21,630 and increased yield $150,000 — total $171,630, after cost of machines deducted.

He also discussed the improving financial picture of the farms and home study families by showing charts reflecting the increases. Guests of the club were, Howard Latimer, Wayne Russell, Elwood Blain, Jimmy Compton and the speaker. There were 55 members present.

Bulgarian Is Sick, Moscow Report Says

By A. I. GOLDBERG

MOSCOW (AP) — Usually reliable informants say former Premier Nikolai Bulganin, sick and plagued by attacks as a member of the so-called anti-party group, has been retired on a pension and is back in Moscow.

The informants said Bulganin was put out to pasture after appealing to his old traveling companion and successor, Nikita Khrushchev.

Bulgian returned to the Soviet capital from his obscure post as chairman of the Stavropol Economic Council, the informants said.

They gave this account: Bulganin went to see Khrushchev, who succeeded him as a premier in March 1958, and complained that local party officials in Stavropol were making his life miserable. They continually cast up to him his confession that he was linked with former Premier Georgi Malenkov, ex-Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and former Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich in the "anti-party group" that threatened Khrushchev's position.

Khrushchev listened sympathetically, then suggested that he accept a monthly pension of 3,000 rubles — $750 at the Soviet exchange rate — and retire from active life. Bulganin accepted and is now living in a villa on the outskirts of Moscow.

Truce Likely in Memphis Disorders

MEMPHIS (AP) — A meeting between city officials and Negro attorneys has resulted in a truce expected to relieve mounting racial tensions here.

The Negro attorneys, representing 23 students arrested at sit-in demonstrations yesterday, agreed to seek a solution to racial problems in meeting with the officials.

The truce, expected to last at least two weeks, resulted almost immediately in all the students being released. Six of them could have had their freedom earlier in the day if they paid $51, on loitering charges.

Instead, they chose to remain jailed with 17 others held on more serious charges, resulting from silent and orderly demonstrations at a public library and the city art gallery.

Bond for the 17 released at midnight was $602 each. It was made up of $91 on loitering charges, $51 for disorderly conduct and $500 for disturbing the peace. The six charged with loitering paid $51.

Man Given 99 Years for Murder

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Loyal Lavon James, 26, who pleaded guilty to murdering a customer during a supermarket holdup, was sentenced today to 99 years in prison.

The punishment was fixed by a jury, which previously had favored electrocution by an 8 to 4 vote. James showed no reaction when the jury's verdict was announced after a few hours of deliberation this morning.

James was arrested in Poinsett County, Ark., on another charge and was brought here for trial in the grocery slaying.

He pleaded guilty when the trial opened yesterday morning, but a jury was sealed to hear testimony and determine the punishment.

An older brother, John Junior James, 29, also charged in the slaying has not been arrested.

Testimony was quickly completed, and the jury deliberated for about 10 hours yesterday before being allowed to go to bed.

A final pre-recess poll by Judge D.W. Bartlett showed the jury stood 8 for electrocution, to 4 for a lighter sentence.

The last of 11 witnesses for the state was John Milton Blackford, whose husband was slain in the Jan. 29 holdup.

The weeping Mrs. Blackford identified James as the man who scuffled with her husband.

She said, however, she saw a second man shoot Blackford.

Loyal James has accused his fugitive brother of being the actual slayer in the $2,500 holdup.

The only defense witness was James' mother, Mrs. Della Hamilton of Goodyear, Ariz.

Girls Shriek at Elvis in Florida

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Elvis Presley is here today to make a television broadcast with Frank Sinatra after eluding an estimated 5,000 shrieking teen-agers at Miami's railroad station.

"The rock'n' roll specialist was apologetic about not greeting the adoring multitude. 'I'm not going to be here long enough,' he said."

A switch engine hauled Elvis' car 12 blocks back up the line Tuesday as the fans howled and pursued in vain. Even so, six girls were waiting and made a rush for Presley as he hustled to a limousine. One exchanged kisses with Elvis through a window pane of the automobile.

Thierry, 36, was bound over the circuit court at a hearing yesterday in municipal court. He was held in county jail.

Khrushchev in wide grin.

The French Communist party had called out its faithful for a rousing welcome. Many curious sightseers were out.

The biggest public welcome came in the suburbs. As the official cars drove through the heart of the city to the president's palace, the crowds thinned.

Some of the spectators were silent as the motorcade passed. But generally there was a buzz of greeting and some chanting of "long live peace and friendship."

Khrushchev, out of bed only a few days after an influenza attack that delayed his French visit a week, looked pale, but cheerful as he took off from Moscow's Vnukovo Airport with his family and an entourage of Soviet officials.

He was accompanied by his wife, son and two daughters. Also in the party were Deputy Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Georgi A. Zhukov, head of the Soviet Committee for Cultural Relations.

Scrawled on many walls along the visitors' route into Paris was the word "Budapest," a symbol of protest by East European refugees and others who objected to the visit, who many places the word cheerful as he took off from Moscow's Vnukovo Airport with his family and an entourage of Soviet officials.

Testimony in School Case Continues

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A woman psychologist for the Little Rock School District told a federal district court today there is no test to determine how a child will perform in an integrated school.

Mrs. Ruth A. Moore was called as a hearing in the latest phase of the Little Rock school integration case resumed before Judge John E. Miller.

Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Mancy Paynter, director of pupil personnel for the Little Rock School District, testified at length about intelligence tests, and sociological interviews of students who protested their assignment to various schools under the Arkansas pupil placement act.

Attorneys for 16 Negro student plaintiffs are attacking the way the school board used the placement law in connection with a court-approved desegregation plan.

The Negro attorneys contend the school board used the placement measure to limit integration in defiance of the court order. Under intensive questioning, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Paynter testified that most of the students they processed were Negroes.

Mrs. Moore said IQ tests were given to 17 Negroes and six white students.

James Nabrit, New York, a Negro attorney, questioned Mrs. Moore directly about the intelligence scores made by 10 Negroes who are among the plaintiffs in the case.

Mrs. Moore said 8 of the 10 scored in the "normal" range of intelligence and 2 were above normal.

The witness said she also examined school personnel files on the students she tested and prepared a summary of their test achievements and personal histories.

She submitted this for the school board to study before it held hearings on the students' protests of their assignments.

Cotton Plan B Number Declines

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of planters electing to grow cotton under the Choice B plan has declined from last year.

The Agriculture Department reported yesterday that about 6.4 per cent of the nation's cotton farms were using the B plan this year.

That compares with about 7.2 per cent last year.

Under the Choice B procedure plantings of 40 per cent above federal allotments are permitted. Choice B planters get price supports at 60 per cent of parity rather than the 72 per cent they received under alternative, Choice A.

The 61,139 farms choosing the B plan increased their 1960 allotments from 2,982,171 to 4,175,014 acres — an increase of 1,192,843 acres.

That made the total allotment for this year's cotton crop 17,592,843 acres.

THE BUSHWHACKERS by FRANK GRUBER

Chapter 27

Bokker sprang from the window, "Stop!" he cried. He started after Pierson, then suddenly remembered that he did not have his gun. He turned back, knocked aside the pillow from the cot and grabbed up the Navy gun. He thrust it under the waistband of his trousers and then climbed swiftly through the window.

Bokker pounded toward the street, made a swift turn and ran to the main street. Fifty feet away, MacDonald Pierson was vaulting onto a horse.

He let out a yip, jammed his heels into the horse's belly and it was off, galloping within a few strides. Bokker looked around for a horse. The closest was 30 yards away, almost in front of his office. He ran toward it, aware that Paul Shay whom he had left on the sidewalk, was running toward him.

"Phil!" Shay cried. "What's up?"

"Haven't got time!" Bokker shouted.

He rushed to the horse, jerked the slip knot by which it was tied to the hitchrail and mounted it swiftly. He turned the horse into the street.

Bokker went a hundred yards and knew that he had lost. The mount he had taken haplazarly was heavy, clumsy, while Pierson's was a fleet Texas mustang. Bokker lost 50 feet in the first hundred yards. Another hundred yards or so and he was hopelessly outdistanced.

Seething, Bokker turned back. Shay was standing in front of Bokker's office, arguing with a middle-aged farmer. The farmer saw Bokker and came to the rail as Bokker dismounted. "What's the idee takin' my horse like that?" the man demanded.

"Sorry," said Bokker, "I was in a hurry."

"I got a good notion to report you to the marshal," the farmer went on.

"Mister," said Paul Shay, "this is Mr. Bokker, a lawyer —"

"A lawyer!" exclaimed the man.

Bokker thrust a five-dollar gold piece into the man's hand. "This'll pay for the loan of your horse." He turned away. "Paul, I need a horse. A good one."

"Then don't bother trying the livery stable. They've only got plugs to rent. Mmm — have you seen that bay I bought a couple of days ago?"

"A good one!"

Shay hesitated, then suddenly nodded. "You won't find many faster. If it's really important, Phil — take it."

"I'm going to ride it hard."

"Go ahead. This — has something to do with —"

"The man I had in my office was MacDonald Pierson. I've told you about him."

Shay whistled softly. "Take the horse. It's over in the livery stable."

They crossed swiftly to the livery stable and Shay himself got his saddle and threw it upon a rangy bay in a stall. Bokker then quickly tightened the cinches. He started out of the stable.

"Luck!" called Shay.

Bokker stooped so his head could clear the door. He rode into the street and sent the bay into a swift trot. Once clear of the street traffic he let out the animal. Pierson had started off at a swift gallop. All of Quantrell's men had been fine horse men. Pierson

Agri Officials Dispute Grain Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top Agriculture Department official today disputed sworn testimony of Earl C. Corey, former grain storage official, that Corey had no knowledge of laws and regulations against outside activities which netted Corey more than $117,000.

Ralph S. Roberts, administrative assistant secretary of the department, told investigating senators that Corey knew about the laws and department regulations.

"It may well be that a statutory provision may have been violated by Mr. Corey," Roberts told Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.).

Symington, chairman of a Senate-agriculture subcommittee investigating costs and profits in the multimillion dollar grain storage industry, said Corey's testimony involved "a factual story of corruption in government."

"We had before us evidence that one of the highest Department of Agriculture officials held a hidden interest in a company that was contracting with the government," Symington said of Corey's testimony here on March 11. "It was a clear-cut conflict-of-interest case."

"Almost as shocking as this official's behavior," was the sworn testimony of the witness that he had never been instructed in regard to conflict-of-interest by his superiors in the Department of Agriculture.

below the horizon. Shay's bay was laboring. Exclaiming under his breath, Bokker dug his heels into the animal's flanks, into its barrel. The horse broke into a run, its breath whistling.

A flickering light appeared ahead, after a few moments a group of lights.

"A little more," Bokker said to the horse.

The bay, however, had given all it could. Acorn was a quarter of a mile ahead, a cluster of buildings huddled around a tiny depot on the Kansas & Pacific.

A mighty shudder ran through the horse. Bokker pulled it up and dismounted. He loosened the saddle and threw it to the ground. He took off the bridle and clapped the horse on a flank.

"Sorry," he said.

He started walking toward Acorn.

Full darkness had fallen when he reached the little depot. It was dark, but Bokker stopped on the platform to size up the hamlet. It consisted of two stores, a saloon and three or four houses.

Bokker walked toward the saloon. The horses there were cool. Either Bokker had guessed wrong — and lost — or he had reached Acorn ahead of his quarry.

St. Louis City Workers Strike

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A strike by more than 300 city employees today halted many municipal operations.

The striking employees are members of craft unions which claim a new pay increase is inadequate. Most city buildings and installations, including City Hall, were picketed. Garbage and rubbish collections were halted. City incinerators were shut down.

Telephone calls to city departments could not be put through because the switchboard was unmanned. The telephone operators, along with many city employees, refused to cross picket lines.

In Jefferson City, Gov. James T. Blair said he understands there is a serious legal question whether the Missouri King-Thompson utility antistrike law applies in municipal employee labor disputes.

The governor planned to confer with Daniel C. Rogers chairman of the State Mediation Board.

Agriculture," Symington added. Corey, former Portland, Ore., supervisor for the department's Commodity Stabilization Service which operates farm price support and grain storage programs, resigned Jan. 22.

Officials said that since then evidence as to Corey's profits from "silent partnership" in grain storage firms doing government business has been presented in a grand jury.

Answering questions of Symington, Roberts testified "the department has not been neglectful."

Roberts presented a 14-page summary of department regulations and activities to prevent such actions as have been ascribed to Corey.

30,000 YEAR OLD LOG

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—Scripps Institution of Oceanography says a partly petrified log, dredged from a quarter-mile depth in the gulf of Tehuantepec, Mexico, was the first find of phosphate fossil wood from the sea floor.

Normally, it explained, petrified wood is mineralized with silicon dioxide, commonly called opal. The piece from the gulf was mineralized with calcium phosphate, called apatite, from dead and decaying sea life. Scripps said the log was at least 30,000 years old.

Violence in South Africa Wanes Some

By ADRIAN PORTER

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Violence appeared on the wane today in riot-blinded South Africa, but militant Negroes turned to the strike weapon in their campaign against the hated pass laws they must carry as non-whites.

More and more Negroes were expected to stay away from their jobs, particularly in Cape Town and near Vereeniging, the coal and steel center south of Johannesburg. Nonwhite townships in those areas were the scene of the riots Monday and Tuesday in which police gunfire killed at least 67 Negroes and wounded 182 or more.

The use of police bullets to quell the Negro demonstrations set off a worldwide wave of criticism of South Africa's white supremacist government. The angry foreign reaction included an extraordinary official denunciation by the U.S. State Department.

Thousands of police backed by armored cars enforced a tense truce in most areas.

The black settlement of Langav, near Cape Town, where at least six Negroes were killed Monday, was the chief trouble center Tuesday. Crowds burned at least eight buildings and stoned firemen and police. One Negro was shot and killed.

Aroused political opponents of Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd demanded a thorough investigation of the violence and an end to South Africa's "drift to disaster." Verwoerd, whose Nationalist party masterminded the nation's rigid white supremacy policies, said he would consider naming a commission to study the crisis.

Thousands of Negro laborers stayed home Tuesday in Cape Town and Vereeniging, protesting the identification passes that are one of the most hated features of South Africa's racial laws. This forced some business shutdowns and discontinuance of nonwhite bus service.

Hundreds of Negroes marched into police stations, pleading to be arrested for not possessing the passes they are required to carry day and night.

The original purpose of the Negro protest campaign, sponsored by the militant Pan-Africanist party, was to fill the jails to overflowing and paralyze the economy of this nation of 10 million blacks and 3 million whites. But police arrested only the ringleaders.

The government charged that African nation agitators turned what had been planned as a peaceful campaign into violent disorders.

Leaders of the Pan-Africanist party said more and more of their supporters would seek arrest, and that the strikes would continue until the passes were abolished.

The Washington denunciation said the United States "deplores violence in all its forms and hopes that the African people of South Africa will be able to obtain redress for legitimate grievances by peaceful means." The State Department admitted its expression was an unusual intervention in the domestic affairs of a friendly country.

There was no immediate reaction from the South African government, but its reply was certain to be bitter.

won the door prize.

The hostess served delicious refreshments. The April meeting will be with Mrs. L. E. Huckabee.

Washington PTA Has Pot Luck Supper

The Washington PTA held a Pot Luck Supper and family night meeting, Friday evening, March 17, at the school gym. The supper was served buffet style in the school lunchroom. Arrangements of yellow flowers by the Junior Climbers Garden Club decorated the tables. Clusters of green paper shamrocks on the walls suggested St. Patrick's Day. Rev. Ed Golden gave the invocation.

At the PTA meeting which followed, Norman Bradford, president, conducted the business session. Officers elected were as follows:

Jamie Boyette, president; Mr. Bradford, vice president; Mrs. H. L. Pinegar, secretary and Mrs. G. M. Shoemaker, treasurer.

The program on safety was in charge of Joe Booker of the Arkansas State Police. After the devotional and prayer by the Rev. Golden, Mr. Booker gave an informative talk on safety and showed a film from the State Department of Education on Bicycle Safety.

Students in North Support Sitdowns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spreading anti-segregation demonstrations by Negroes in the South are being given extensive support by Northern college students for the first time since the current protests began the first of February.

Yale divinity students plan a protest march today. Brown University boys and Skidmore College girls will continue picketing variety stores, and a U.S. senator's son is helping form a group at the University of Connecticut to raise funds for Negroes expelled for taking part in Southern sitdowns.

In the South a new attack on segregation barriers has been started in Alabama. Demonstrations have spread to a Tennessee art gallery and there have been more sitdowns in several states.

These and other racial developments marked growing agitation over segregation practices, with lunch counters still the main targets. Only a few arrests were reported Tuesday, however.

Seven Negroes — including one expelled from Alabama State College — applied for enrollment at the white University of Alabama center at Montgomery, a night school where high school graduates take part-time courses for college credits.

Marzette Watts was ousted from Alabama State for taking part in an anti-segregation demonstration.

At Memphis, Tenn., police arrested 23 Negro students during new demonstrations at the public art gallery and at a downtown branch library. Seven students were arrested inside the Brooks Memorial Art Gallery and six others outside. Ten students were arrested in the segregated reading room at the library.

More than 150 Negro students staged nonviolent sitdowns at five variety stores in Houston, Tex. At Storrs, Conn., a group of University of Connecticut students also made plans to form a fund raising committee. Among them was Jeremy Dodd, a 19 year old sophomore and the son of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.).

Wheaton College students formed a committee at Norton, Mass., to solicit funds for the legal defense of Negro students expelled from Alabama State.

About 20 faculty members and more than 200 Skidmore College girls demonstrated at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., and began picketing a variety store. Brown University students also were picketing variety stores in Providence, R. I.

Jimmy Hoffa Faced With More Charges

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The head Teamsters monitor said today that despite lack of cooperation from fellow monitors, he will file a batch of new charges seeking removal of James R. Hoffa as Teamsters Union president.

Marlin F. O'Donoghue, chairman of the three-man monitor board, said he is requesting permission from U.S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts to file charges alleging nonfeasance and malfeasance in office against Hoffa.

Hoffa already faces trial before Judge Letts April 27 on monitor charges that he misused $40,000 of Detroit Local 299 funds to help finance a Florida real estate development. Hoffa has denied the charge.

Judge Letts appointed the monitors two years ago to act as overseers of a corruption cleanup in the union.

O'Donoghue spoke out after a series of rapid-fire developments Tuesday. First, Letts denied a move by Hoffa to prevent the monitors from publicizing their complaints and actions. Letts said news reporters are entitled to know what the monitors are doing.

Then the union's designated monitor, Daniel B. Maher, said he is quitting. As reasons, he gave ill health and a feeling that the monitors were only trying to "get rid of Hoffa" and other Teamsters leaders instead of trying to guarantee rights of rank-and-file union members.

O'Donoghue said Maher and the third monitor member, Lawrence T. Solh, have refused to go along with him in protesting to Judge Letts that Hoffa should be barred from serving both as national union president and head of Detroit Local 299.

Police Chief and Wife Are Buried

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Police Chief Gene Smith and his wife he shot to death before killing himself were buried side-by-side here yesterday afternoon.

Services were held at a funeral chapel with an estimated 300 mourners inside the building and half as many outside.

The Rev. H. O. Bolin, a retired Methodist minister and a former police chaplain, was in charge. Burial was in National Cemetery.

The couple was found dead in their home last Saturday morning. Dr. Howard A. Dishongh, the Pulaski County coroner, ruled that Smith, 47, killed his 45-year-old wife and then shot himself.

Smith did not leave any notes, and a motive for the murder and suicide has not been definitely established.

Strike at Water Project Still on

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A strike of 16 electrical workers at the Greers Ferry Dam project near Heber Springs apparently was still on today.

It had been announced earlier by both sides that the strike would end this morning.

The strikers are members of Local 295, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

A spokesman said yesterday they struck last Thursday because the contractor, Red River Builders, would not sign a recognition agreement.

A contractor spokesman said the men would return without any concession by the builder.

Some unions on the big project refused to cross a picket line; others crossed it.

Despite the earlier announcement, the U. S. Engineer office, which is supervising the work, said it was told the electricians had not returned.

There was no immediate explanation why they hadn't.

Connects Religion as Mental Help

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An Arkansas psychiatrist said today that more widespread religious faith might go a long way toward helping prevent mental illness.

"It could almost bring to extinction the psychiatrist," Dr. Fred O. Henker of the University Medical Center told a civic club.

He said most mental illness can be attributed to personality stresses which are greater than can be tolerated.

"A true religion could relieve mental stresses," the psychiatrist said.

Among such strains are insecurity, loss of a loved one, feelings of frustration and a sense of guilt. "I feel that religion offers a solution to each type of stress," Dr. Henker said.

He said many who profess to be religious lack enough faith to benefit from their creeds.

"Many people participate in their religion with almost entire concern for life after death rather than retaining some concern for life now," he said.

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Can't Forgive or Forget the Past

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 43, have been married 20 years and have three children which I dearly love, and who dearly love their father. I can't say the same so broken up that he began to cry. My love for him is completely gone. Years ago he was untrue to me and has kept financial problems from me. I had in work half of our married life. Each time I found out something, he would beg forgiveness. I would overlook too, but he's not sure himself. Please help his both. — Hoping, while, it would happen again.

Dear Hoping: Your boy friend for the past five years, he has been true to me but still keeps "I love you" and mean it. It's financial troubles to himself. He says he will do anything I wish so he, not you, is the one to press long as it makes me happy. I forced him to sleep in another bedroom for the past four months. He keeps insisting I take him back, forget the past and live only for the future, or have him move out to rent a sleeping room by himself. This would kill both our parents and I don't know what my children would do. He does have good qualities and is respected in our community. What can I do? — Undecided.

Dear Undecided: Give your husband another chance. Even though he may have been in your heart to do so, then let him go. To be a wife in name only is to be a hypocrite. Jesus said, "This is my commandment, that you love one another as I have loved you."

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have been going with a boy eight months and have fallen in love with him. He is 21, I am 18. We would do anything for one another.

Dear George: I'm no authority on physical culture. All I can do is give you the benefit of what I've learned from various health and beauty courses taken over the years. Having an itching mind and the urge to keep fit, I've gone to most of them.

Exercises, such as bending the head from side to side, raising and lowering the chin, blowing out and contracting your cheeks, will help strengthen flabby facial muscles.

Exercise isn't the entire answer. Along with it you must maintain a balanced diet. And that includes vitamins. I have an alert, active and interesting aunt who has just celebrated her 92nd birthday. She is living proof of right eating. Her standbys are "Eat Right and Keep Fit" by Adelle Davis and "Folk Medicine" by D. C. Farriss, M.D. They are mine too.

Faubus Says Shouldn't Be Supremacy

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said last night that "if this country doesn't wake up we will have supremacy of some kind and it may not be the kind we like."

Referring to advocates of white supremacy or other specialized groups Faubus said he does not believe in "white supremacy, black supremacy, Protestant supremacy or Catholic supremacy."

He also said that the States Rights Party, which nominated him for president last weekend has been wrongly identified as a Protestant supremacy group. He said it has several Catholic members.

Most of his speech was devoted to reviewing his administration's accomplishments and the integration controversy. Praising the industrialization program, he said that three new industries are waiting to announce that they plan to locate in Arkansas. He did not give any details.

He spoke to a Business and Professional Women's "Bosses Night" dinner. He told the audience that in his campaign for an unprecedented fourth term as governor, "I won't be uneasy unless some woman files against me."

Negroes Sitdown at Memphis Gallery

MEMPHIS (AP) — Negro students engaged in new sit-in maneuvers today, hitting the city's segregated art gallery for the first time and staging a second demonstration at the downtown Public Library.

A dozen were taken into custody at the library where 22 others were arrested last Saturday. Six more were arrested at the Brooks Memorial Art Gallery.

There were no incidents at either place.

The new demonstrations came the day after a City Court trial in which 36 Negro students and a newspaperman were fined for taking part in simultaneous sit-ins at both the downtown and midtown libraries Saturday.

They also followed last night's mass meeting at which a suggestion to boycott downtown stores twice a week was given roaring approval by some 2,000 Negroes. The boycott etc., 2nd graf LR21.

Negro Stabs Student to Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A teenage Negro today admitted he stabbed to death a 17-year-old white high school honor student during a gang attack on the victim. Six other boys were held in connection with the slaying.

John Campiglia Jr., a South Philadelphia high school youngster, mortally wounded, was found by his father on the sidewalk in front of his home.

He had been knifed by a howling gang of Negroes.

"All I want to do now is forget it—forget what I saw," said the father. "I always told Johnny to avoid these gangs. Get on the other side of the street. He always did."

Police Inspector George Krontz said an oral admission of the stabbing was given by Norman Wilson, 17, who until last month was a pupil at the same school as the victim.

"As far as we know at this point," said Chief Inspector John J. Kelly, "the attack on Campiglia apparently stems from an incident last Thursday when two colored boys got a thumping."

Kelly said the Campiglia boy appeared to be an innocent victim of circumstances.

"He was giving his assailants no offense. He didn't even know them and there was no apparent feeling on their part he had anything to do with the alleged assault on Thursday," Kelly said.

Kelly said the dagger with which John was killed was found inside a mattress at the home of one of the boys. Its ownership remains undetermined.

Kelly said they were led to Wilson in the roundup and questioning of about 100 boys. One of those implicated Wilson.

Gunman Is Identified by Witnesses

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Six witnesses today identified Loyal Lavan James, 26, as one of the two gunmen who held up a Waco supermarket Jan. 29.

A customer was shot and killed during the holdup.

James entered a plea of guilty to charges of murder when the trial started this morning. The state is seeking the death penalty.

A brother, John Junior James, 29, has also been charged in the robbery and slaying. He is still at large.

Lester Pearlene Goodson, a first cousin of the two brothers, testified that the three first drove to another grocery store but decided not to rob it because a police car was parked nearby.

She said they next "cased" the Piggly-Wiggly store and waited until the crowd thinned out. She said she remained in the car on the parking lot while the two brothers, both armed with pistols, went into the store.

"I heard a shot, and they came back to the car and we drove away," she testified.

Five store employees and one customer took the stand to identify Loyal Lavan James as one of the two gunmen.

The men are charged in the death of J.M. Blackford. The two robbers escaped with $2,500 in loot after shooting Blackford in the holdup.

Leggett Case Goes to Supreme Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ernest Earl Leggett's hopes of escaping the Arkansas electric chair rest with the U. S. Supreme Court again.

Leggett's attorney, Kenneth Coffelt, yesterday asked the high court to consider ordering a trial for the 23-year-old slayer on rape charges.

Coffelt wants the trial so he can get a new jury opinion on Leggett's sanity.

The Arkansas Supreme Court has rejected trial for Leggett on the rape charges, which have never been disposed of. Coffelt appealed to the Supreme Court from the Arkansas court's ruling.

The 23-year-old Leggett was sentenced to death for the strangulation slaying of Joe King, 14, of Jacksonville, in December, 1955.

The alleged rape occurred shortly after the King murder.

Leggett has won a dozen reprieves since his 1956 conviction on the murder charge.

Faubus Backs Mail Out Literature

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — "Faubus for President" materials were mailed today to Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., and Millsaps College in Jackson, Miss., for use in mock political conventions.

Arthur C. Gayle, vice president of the Arkansas-Louisiana-Texas "Faubus for President" club, said he had received requests for the materials by students of both schools.

K. Michael Barvier of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity at Northwestern asked for the materials. Gayle said. Barvier said in his letter his fraternity was backing Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus in the school's mock convention.

Gayle said other material was mailed to Don Staby, temporary chairman of the mock convention at Millsaps April 4-6. Staby wrote that he believed Faubus had a good chance of winning the mock convention's nomination.

Another Apology to Castro Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department is reported preparing another apology to the Fidel Castro government because of an unauthorized flight Monday of a private plane from Florida to Cuba.

An official said today the department deplores such occurrences and is drafting a statement expressing its regrets to Cuban authorities.

"Adventurers who make flights to Cuba are doing great damage to our relations," he said.

The new apology to Cuba stems from a flight by two U. S. citizens Monday in a light, rented plane. The craft was forced down by Cuban army gunfire near Matanzas.

Welfare Increase $5.34 Per Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams announced today that $434,331 has been added to monthly welfare grants under a new program.

Average increase per individual case was $5.34.

The new program was effective March 1. It was announced some time ago by Adams and Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

March welfare payments totaled $3,857,493 compared with $3,424,162 in February.

Annual total of the increase is expected to run between three and four million dollars.

Thinks Yanks, KC on Verge of Another Trade

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Are the Kansas City Athletics and the New York Yankees on the verge of another player trade?

Probably, says baseball writer Joe McGuff of the Kansas City Star.

McGuff reported Tuesday that Manager Bob Elliott of the Athletics had indicated to the Yankees that he would be the 16th deal between the teams since 1955.

Asked by newsmen if any deals were being considered, Elliott replied: "The Yankees have an infielder I wouldn't mind having. And he's not playing regularly either."

This wasn't much of a clue to the player's identity since the closest thing to a regular in Yankee Manager Casey Stengel's operation is Stengel himself.

However, the Yanks have three men who more or less match Elliott's description — Cleis Boyer, Andy Carey and Fritz Brickell.

McGuff speculated that the Athletics would swap one or more of their outfielders for an infielder. He pointed out that the Yanks are thin in the outfield. They have seven outfielders in camp, but only Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris and Hector Lopez are of known front line caliber. In contrast, the A's have six good men in Bill Tuggle, Norm Siebern, Bob Cerv, Hank Bauer, Russ Snyder and Whitely Herzog not to mention utility man Dick Williams. And, one of the best-looking youngsters in camp is Leo Posada, who hit homers and batted .301 last year in class AA ball.

The Yanks are strong in infield talent. The A's infield is pitiful. There was no hint about which of the A's outfielders might be traded to New York.

Dissension in American Pro Football Loop

By ALAN CLINE

Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Dissension, minor perhaps but still a rift, smoldered in the American Football League today over draft-exhibition home run, it took a running play for the Oakland club, scoring single by light-hitting Y. C. Soda, general manager for Lenny Green in the seventh in the eighth and last club to get an AFL franchise, said his beef was mainly over principle.

His troubles, first show of internal dissension in the new league, began Monday when the seven other clubs presented him and Coach Eddie Erdtatz with a list of 11 "untouchable" men Oakland couldn't draft. The Los Angeles Chargers and Houston Oilers, however, tacked on several names of nontransfers, men who wanted to stay with the two clubs.

"These men should have been included in the 11 untouchables," Soda said. "When the agreement is to freeze 11, why don't they freeze 11?"

Soda went to AFL Commissioner Joe Foss.

"He said he felt sorry for us, but he couldn't do much about it," Soda related. "But he did say that in the next go-around, the nontransfers would be included among the 'untouchables'."

Soda said the team, still unnamed and without a playing field, has about 20 players under contract now and hopes to get about 35 more from the five rounds of drafting.

George Blanda, ex-Chicago Bear quarterback, Tom Landrum, both with Houston, and Ron Walker, former Los Angeles Rams back now with the Chargers, were among the non-transfer group.

Off to Good Start

LAKE LAND, Fla. (AP) — Right-hander Ray Herbert has pitched 11 innings of exhibition baseball for Kansas City this spring and still has not allowed a run. Herbert, who has allowed only 6 hits, compiled an 11-1 record last year.

Barbara McIntire Leading in N. C.

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) — Her own putting magic and her opponent's frequent excursions in the sand traps combined to give Barbara McIntire an easy win in the most one-sided North and South Amateur Golf Tournament finals in 11 years.

Barbara, National Amateur champion from Lake Park, Fla., led all the way in a 5 and 4 conquest of JoAnne Goodwin of Haverhill, Mass., Tuesday.

Barbara had six one-putt greens and never three-putted. JoAnne lost four holes by putting her second shot in a trap.

Cuban Holds Out on the Senators

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Camilo Pascual, a strong-armed 26-year-old Cuban with a fond attachment for greenbacks, is aiming his blazing fast ball right at the purse strings held by Washington President Calvin Griffith.

Pitching for the Senators, who have languished in the American League cellar for three consecutive years, Pascual compiled a 17-10 record during the 1959 campaign and then had to battle Griffith for a hefty raise.

Now Pascual is intent on breaking the bank by proving his first winning year in six major league seasons, a 2.61 earned run average and 185 strikeouts were no one-shot deal.

The 5-foot-11 right-hander again displayed his talents for Griffith Tuesday, pitching four innings of shutout relief, striking out eight and allowing only a harmless single by Jackie Brandt as the Senators nipped Baltimore's Orioles 2-1.

With Washington's fearsome foursome — Harmon Killebrew, Jim Lemon, Roy Sievers, Bob Altman, smoldered in the American League today over draft-exhibition home run, it took a running play for the Oakland club, scoring single by light-hitting Y. C. Soda, general manager for Lenny Green in the seventh in the eighth and last club to get an AFL franchise, said his beef was mainly over principle.

In the first round roundup yesterday, third seeded Linda Wesley College of Mount Pleasant blasted the Kansas City Dons 74-36, and Omaha, Neb., Commercial Extension, the fourth seeded team, defeated Columbus, Ohio, 44-32.

The No. 1 and No. 2 teams, defending champion Wayland College of Plainview, Tex., and Nashville, Tenn., passed their first round tests Monday.

In other championship bracket games yesterday, Salt Lake City defeated Kansas City, Kan., 38-38; Defiance, Ohio, defeated the Atlanta Blues 39-37; Shrewsbury, Mass., beat Little Rock Retailers 40-27; Omaha (Ark.) Paret Can't Read, He Can Just Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Benny (Kid) Paret can't read or write in either Spanish or English but it apparently hasn't hurt his boxing career. Being an illiterate even may have been an asset for the Cuban welterweight contender.

Since he can't read the newspapers the Kid doesn't know too much about the reputations for the leading fighters. Furthermore he couldn't care less.

On Friday night the muscular, 2-year-old from Santa Clara, Cuba faces Argentina's Federico Thompson in a 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden. The winner will get a title fight with welterweight champion Don Jordan at Las Vegas, May 27.

That's a giant step forward for a fighter who was unranked and unheralded only three months ago. Then he twice beat Charley Scott of Philadelphia to earn a No. 4 ranking and an elimination fight with Thompson. The 32-year-old Argentine came out of nowhere himself in just one fight. Thompson knocked out Jordan in the fourth round of a non-title bout in Buenos Aires, last Dec. 12.

Paret is the 9-5 favorite. But he doesn't know it. Nobody has told him.

Old Grid Players Don't Fade Away

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Old football players don't necessarily fade away. Sometimes they come back, as Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch did as the newly named general manager of the Los Angeles Rams.

Hirsch, whose fantastic catches of passes thrilled Ram fans for nine years until his retirement in 1957, signed a three-year contract Tuesday. He succeeds Pete Rozelle, who moved up to become commissioner of the National Football League.

Salary terms were not divulged, but a good guess is that Crazy Legs will earn $75,000 for the three years.

Hirsch, a hero in his native Wisconsin since his playing days at Wausau, the University of Wisconsin (1941-42) and Michigan (U.S. Marine wartime program, 1943), has been active in radio and television since his playing career ended.

In 1951, when the Rams won the NFL championship, he set a league record of 1,495 yards gained on passes and caught 17 touchdown passes.

Celtics, Hawks Drop Games in Pro Playoff

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wilt Chamberlain and Elgin Baylor are lifesavers in every sense of the word for the championship playoff hopes of the Philadelphia Warriors and Minneapolis Lakers in the National Basketball Assn.

Chamberlain, despite a bruised right hand, scored 50 points as the Warriors beat the Boston Celtics 128-107 to avert elimination in the Eastern finals. The Celtics still lead, though, 3-2 in the best-of-seven series.

And Baylor scored 40 points for the Lakers, who took a 3-2 lead over St. Louis in the West with a 117-110 overtime victory.

Both Boston and Minneapolis go after clinching victories Thursday night, with the Celtics playing in Philadelphia and the Lakers having a home court advantage. The latter had the same situation a year ago and eliminated St. Louis, only to lose four in a row to Boston for the NBA title.

Chamberlain has been ineffective after injuring his hand in a scuffle with Boston's Tom Heinsohn last Friday. But Tuesday night, with the hand much better though still swollen, he canned 22 field goals and six fouls. He had help from Tom Gola who added 22 points.

The Lakers and Hawks were tied 47-47 at halftime and 103-103 going into the overtime. The Lakers never trailed in the extra period as Rudy Larusso scored five of their 14 points.
